LANDSCAPE PAINTING IN OIL

A visual Translation from 'plein-air' to studio

LAWRIE QUIGLEY

(experienced Royal Academy trained Artist and Teacher)

The workshop will include practical demonstration working from small oil sketches done on location or 'plein-air' and then translated to a larger scale in the studio environment - considering pictorial composition and synthesis, colour relationships, and expressive paint application techniques and processes. Students are asked to bring any drawings or studies done in any media and /or photographs to work from - and to work on a slightly larger scale than normal. or studies done in any media and /or photographs to work from - and to work on a slightly larger scale than normal.
